

Sexual Violence Prevention and Supports

Prevention Innovation Grant Guidelines - Large

Introduction

Sexual violence continues to remain hidden and victims are frequently blamed and stigmatized. Government remains committed to working with community partners to raise public awareness, enhance services and supports and stop sexual violence from happening in the first place.

Although it can sometimes seem too large to solve, we know that sexual violence is preventable. With multiple organizations, groups and communities directing prevention initiatives, the responsibility of preventing sexual violence is shared by the collective community. With the long-term goal of reducing sexual violence, we must focus our approaches on ways to stop sexual violence from happening in the first place. This is called primary prevention.

Primary prevention approaches seek to address the environmental factors and social norms known to contribute to sexual violence (ex. economic inequalities, sexism, media and marketing practices, technology, harmful use of alcohol, etc.), while also promoting healthy relationships, consent and fostering safer spaces and resilient communities.

Innovation is about bringing fresh ideas and creativity into sexual violence prevention work. Let's experiment with new ideas and methods, use technology, mobilize community, and try things that have not been done before. We want to expand the field of best practices for sexual violence prevention and this is a key way to do it. Get your creative juices flowing!

Grants Basics

- This grant package is for amounts over $5,000, up to a maximum of $10,000.
- This is a one year, non-renewable grant program.
- Groups can submit as many applications as desired. Applications will be evaluated based on individual merit.
- Groups with grant funding through other Sexual Violence Prevention and Supports initiatives are welcome to apply for the Prevention Innovation Grants.

- There is no conflict if an organization wishes to submit an application as well as be a community partner to youth or a non-registered group.

Grant Outcomes

The following illustrates some of the intended outcomes of the Prevention Innovation Fund.

Vision

All Nova Scotians should expect to live safely, free from sexual violence, and should have services available to them when needed.

Prevention Innovation Fund Goals

Support the expansion of best practices, better research and evaluation, and better use of technology.

Assist groups that may not be part of the network of sexual violence organizations to reach out to their peers in creative ways.

Support the work of marginalized and underserved communities, including African Nova Scotian, Indigenous, and LGBTQIA2S+ communities.

Possible Outcomes

Better understanding of healthy relationships and norms.

Increased engagement of men and boys in sexual violence prevention work.

Youth have a clearer understanding of what consent is and why it is important.

Decrease in the hypersexualization of women and girls.

Strengthened youth engagement and leadership in sexual violence prevention.

Marginalized communities are involved in and leading prevention efforts.

Increase in positive, non-violent perceptions of masculinity.

Expanded understanding of best practices in sexual violence prevention.

Application Considerations

A successful application will include many of the following elements:
