1. Message from the Deputy Minister

We are pleased to present the 2012-2013 French-language Services Plan for the Department of Labour and Advanced Education. This plan supports the overall goals of the department as well as our responsibilities under the French-language Services Act and Regulations.

Our department covers several important areas that directly impact the lives of Nova Scotians. Divisions within LAE work every day to keep our workplaces safe and fair, reduce the risk of fire in our communities, and make sure Nova Scotians have the right skills for good jobs through training and post-secondary education.

This plan outlines our efforts to make these important services and programs more accessible to Nova Scotia's Acadian and francophone communities.

Building on the work laid out in previous reports, in 2012-2013 we look forward to the ongoing collaboration with our partners at the Office of Acadian Affairs to further enhance our ability to deliver French services.

We will continue to look for opportunities to make our public consultations more accessible to the Francophone community. We will also continue to provide staff with learning tools and resources to enhance their own French-language skills.

Supporting lifelong learning is a priority for our department. Many of our Adult Education programs are offered in French and we are looking to expand our efforts even further.

In addition, we will be working directly with the Francophone and Acadian community on helping them address issues such as skills shortages and attracting and retaining immigrants.

French-language components will also be further integrated into more aspects of the programs delivered by the Status of Women including the developing of bilingual print materials and online resources.

Our department has a key role to play in keeping our communities safe and providing training and skills to individuals across the province. This plan helps us ensure that these services are accessible and available for all Nova Scotians.

2. Responses to French Requests

The Department will continue to respond in a timely manner to written and verbal requests from the public for French-language services. Various French-speaking staff members have offered to provide services in French. Some staff answer the telephone in both English and French (Hello / Bonjour). In the Office of Immigration, the Bonjour! sign offering services in both official languages is prominently displayed in the reception area and bilingual staff are encouraged to wear the Bonjour! pin to indicate their bilingual capacity. We have bilingual staff throughout the province willing and able to provide service in French. Staff members who receive requests beyond their capacity to provide a response in French have been instructed to contact French-speaking staff members for help.

Some of the Chairs or Deputy Chairs of our boards can conduct hearings in French. Also, if applicants or witnesses need a French interpreter, that is provided free of charge. In addition, the Conciliation and Labour Tribunals Division has an agreement in place with New Brunswick for conciliation in French where workplace parties request it.

Publications can be translated upon the request of the originating division.

3. French-language Services Inventory

Labour and Advanced Education provides a wide range of services and publications available in French. Appendix A has more information.

4. Labour and Advanced Education Steps To Improve Our French-Language Services for 2012-2013

In 2012/2013, the Departments' plan continues our efforts to increase and deliver programs and services that reflect the needs of the Acadian and francophone community.

Appendix B details those goals and objectives.

5. Progress in Reaching Goals and Objectives for 2011-2012

Labour and Advanced Education made progress in improving its French-language services in 2011-2012 Appendix C lists:

- the goals and objectives we established for 2011-2012 to improve French-language services;
- the actions and activities we set to meet the goals and objectives for 2011-2012; and
- the progress we made last year to reach our goals and objectives.

Overall, 20 of the 30 Planned Measures from 2011-2012 were accomplished, for a 67 percent success rate.

6. Conclusion: Contribution to the Preservation and Growth of the Acadian and Francophone Community

---

The Department's French-language Services Plan contributes to the preservation and growth of the Acadian and francophone community by allowing us to serve French-speaking community members in their native language. This engages the Acadian and francophone community more fully in the planning and delivery of our operations and programs.
