

Who must complete this application form

The Labour Standards Code requires most employers who wish to recruit and hire a foreign worker to work in Nova Scotia to obtain an Employer Registration Certificate from the Director of Labour Standards. It is an offence for an employer to recruit or hire a foreign worker without a valid registration.

You must obtain an Employer Registration Certificate if you intend to employ a foreign worker to work for you:

- in a proprietorship, corporation or other entity, or in a partnership, or
- as a caregiver or nanny in your home or the home of a dependent

Some employers may be exempt from the registration requirements. See the Labour Standards website at novascotia.ca/lae/employmentrights/FW/nswfwprogexemptions.asp#qemployers

Who is a foreign worker

Under the Labour Standards Code, a foreign worker is defined as a person who:

- is not a Canadian citizen, or a permanent resident within the meaning of the Canadian Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA), and
- is recruited to become employed in Nova Scotia, regardless of whether or not the person does become employed.

Certain groups of foreign workers are not included in the definition, for example, independent contractors. For more information see the Labour Standards website at novascotia.ca/lae/employmentrights/FW/nswfwprogexemptions.asp#qDefexemptions

Employer's responsibilities

As an employer you have clear obligations related to record keeping, maintaining accurate and current information with Labour Standards, not reducing the wages of a foreign worker and not reducing or eliminating any other benefit, term or condition of a foreign worker's employment that the employer undertook to provide as a result of participating in the recruitment of a foreign worker. You must also uphold all other provisions of the Labour Standards Code and the General Labour Standards Code Regulations. It's important that you know your responsibilities in order to avoid liability.

I understand that the Labour Standards Code prohibits me, as an employer, as well as any third party who assists me with recruitment, from charging fees to workers, directly or indirectly, as part of a recruitment process. This applies to all workers, including foreign workers.

I understand that if I am (or my employee is) not the recruiter of a foreign worker to be employed by me, there must be a recruiter licensed by the Director of Labour Standards involved in any foreign worker recruitment activity. Some exemptions may apply. See the Labour Standards website at novascotia.ca/lae/employmentrights/FW/nswfwprogexemptions.asp

I understand that I can, and should, verify that an individual holds a valid foreign worker recruitment licence by checking the Public Registry of Licensees on the Labour Standards website novascotia.ca/lae/employmentrights/FW/LicensedRecruiters.asp

I understand that if I use the services of an unlicensed recruiter, I can be held liable to repay all potential recruitment fees charged, directly or indirectly, to the foreign worker.

I understand that I must maintain complete and accurate records of all expenses incurred, directly or indirectly, by me (and, if applicable, by my employee acting on my behalf) in recruiting a foreign worker; any contract or agreement with a foreign worker recruiter; and, any employment or other contract or agreement entered into with a foreign worker. All must be kept for three (3) years.

There are no fees associated with this application.

I understand that if I violate or have violated the legislation of the Code or the Regulations, I could have my application for a registration certificate refused; I could have a current registration certificate suspended or cancelled; and/or I could lose the right to apply for a registration certificate in the future.

I understand that an offence of non-compliance under the Code is subject to fines of up to $25,000. Further, I acknowledge that recruiting a foreign worker without having a valid registration certificate, using the assistance of an unlicensed recruiter, charging recruitment fees to any workers, or providing false information to the Director of Labour Standards are all offences of non-compliance under the Code.

I understand that the Government of Nova Scotia encourages employers to hire Canadian citizens and permanent residents whenever possible.

Before you begin

You will need to provide information about yourself and/or your business and the type(s) of position(s) you are seeking to recruit. You will also be required to provide information about third-party agencies and/or individuals that will be assisting you in the recruitment process.

Before completing this application form, you should have the following information on hand:

- Position title and anticipated start date for each foreign worker you are seeking to recruit.
- The National Occupational Classification (NOC) 2011 code for each position title of foreign worker(s) you are seeking to recruit. See the federal website: www5.hrsdc.gc.ca/NOC/English/NOC/2011/Welcome.aspx
- Name, contact information and licence number of any third-party that is assisting you with recruitment of foreign worker(s). View the Public Registry of Licensees on our website novascotia.ca/lae/employmentrights/FW/LicensedRecruiters.asp
- Name and contact information of any being sub-contracted by you or your foreign worker recruiter to assist with the recruitment of foreign worker(s).

In determining whether the applicant for an Employer Registration Certificate meets the requirements for granting the registration, the Director of Labour Standards may make inquiries about whether the employer is carrying on activities that are in violation of the Code or Regulations; whether the employer has had previous violations under the Code or Regulations; and whether the employer has been found to be in breach of the Occupational Health and Safety Act, by final order or decision made under that Act, or has been convicted of an offence under the Act. The Director may collect information beyond what is provided in this application form.

Information collected may be:

- disclosed to the Departments of Employment and Social Development Canada (Service Canada) and Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC), another department or agency of the Province of Nova Scotia or of another province/territory of Canada, in accordance with S.14A of the Code.
- used for aggregate statistics in policy analysis, research and/or evaluation in relation to the entry and hiring of foreign workers to Nova Scotia or in relation to the Code. Authority to collect the information is provided in S.89U of the Code.

There are no fees associated with this application.
