- Mineral rights for land in the Province of Nova Scotia are reserved to the Crown, and administered by the Nova Scotia Department of Natural Resources. The department's Registry of Mineral and Petroleum Titles is responsible for receiving applications for mineral and petroleum rights, and for issuing and registering licences and leases, and other rights. The registry has used a paper-based system for the issuance, tracking and management of mineral tenure for more than a century.
- Modernization of the Registry of Mineral and Petroleum Titles has moved forward with the objectives of providing more timely access to mineral rights information and enabling clients to acquire and manage mineral rights over the internet.
- The new registry system is called NovaROC (Nova Scotia Registry Of Claims)
