

HANDS ON THE WHEEL— EYES ON THE ROAD

AS OF APRIL 1ST IT'S THE LAW

Effective April 1, 2008, it is against the law in Nova Scotia to use a hand-held cellular phone, or text messaging device, while driving.

Under this new law, you may only drive and talk on a mobile phone by using the hands-free function. You may still use a cell phone to report emergency situations.

For information on the new law and safe cell phone use, visit www.gov.ns.ca/tran/

NOVA SCOTIA

Transportation and Infrastructure Renewal